The following email was sent by Robert Harrison, Chairman, President & Chief Executive Officer of First Hawaiian Bank, to employees of First Hawaiian Bank on July 24, 2026.

To all FHB team members,

Today we announced our Second Quarter 2026 financial results, delivering another strong quarter for First Hawaiian with net income of $73.4 million. Our results reflect disciplined execution across the bank, including continued loan growth, higher net interest margin, and ongoing optimization of our deposit mix by reducing our reliance on public time deposits. Most importantly, they reflect the trust our customers place in us and the outstanding work each of you does every day.

Whether you're serving customers in our branches, supporting operations behind the scenes, growing relationships, managing risk, or helping your colleagues succeed, your commitment continues to strengthen our bank and position us for the future.

Against that backdrop, our key financial results as of June 30, 2026, compared to March 31, 2026, were as follows:

- Total Assets: $23.6 billion, down 2.5%
- Deposits: $20.2 billion, down 3.0%
- Loans and Leases: $14.6 billion, increase of 0.9%
- Net Interest Margin: 3.25%, increase of 6 basis points
- Net Income: $73.4 million, up 8.2%

Compared to June 30, 2025, our performance was as follows:

- Total Assets: Decrease of 0.8%
- Deposits: Decrease of 0.4%
- Loans and Leases: Increase of 1.6%

We also recently announced an exciting milestone for First Hawaiian Bank: our pending acquisition of Tri Counties Bank. When completed, the transaction will expand our presence into California while reinforcing our position as the clear market leader in Hawaii and creating the sixth-largest bank headquartered in the western United States. It brings together two organizations with shared values and a common commitment to serving customers and communities.

While the acquisition will represent an exciting new chapter for our company, our priorities remain unchanged. We must continue executing at a high level by growing relationships, attracting deposits, responsibly growing loans, delivering exceptional service, and supporting one another. Staying focused on our priorities will position us well as we move through the regulatory and stockholder approval process and begin planning for integration.

Many of you will have opportunities to support integration planning over the coming months. As we've shared previously, those efforts will be coordinated through the Integration Management Office to ensure we remain aligned throughout the process. Until then, our focus should remain on continuing to serve our customers and communities with the excellence they expect from First Hawaiian Bank.

Thank you for everything you've done to make this another successful quarter. I appreciate your continued commitment to our customers, our communities, and one another. I look forward to what we'll accomplish in the months ahead.

Mahalo,

Bob

FORWARD-LOOKING STATEMENTS

This communication may contain “forward-looking statements” within the meaning of the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995, Section 27A of the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, and Section 21E of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended, including, among others, statements regarding the expected timing, completion and effects of the proposed business combination transaction between First Hawaiian, Inc. (“FHI”) and TriCo Bancshares (“TriCo”) (the “Transaction”) and the plans, objectives, expectations and intentions of FHI and TriCo. Any statement that does not describe historical or current facts is a forward-looking statement. Forward-looking statements are often, but not always, made through the use of words or phrases such as “annualized,” “anticipate,” “believe,” “continue,” “could,” “estimate,” “expect,” “goal,” “intend,” “may,” “might,” “outlook,” “plan,” “potential,” “predict,” “projection,” “seek,” “should,” “target,” “will,” “would” or the negative version of those words or other comparable words or phrases of a future or forward-looking nature.

FHI and TriCo caution that the forward-looking statements in this communication are not guarantees of future performance and involve a number of known and unknown risks, uncertainties and assumptions that are difficult to assess and are subject to change based on factors which are, in many instances, beyond FHI’s and TriCo’s control. A number of important factors could cause actual results to differ materially from those indicated in these forward-looking statements, including the following: changes in general economic, political, or industry conditions, and in conditions impacting the banking industry specifically; uncertainty in U.S. fiscal, monetary and trade policy, including the interest rate policies of the Federal Reserve Board or the effects of any declines in housing and commercial real estate prices, high or increasing unemployment rates, continued or renewed inflation, the impact of proposed or imposed tariffs by the U.S. government or retaliatory tariffs proposed or imposed by U.S. trading partners that could have an adverse impact on customers or any recession or slowdown in economic growth particularly in the markets in which FHI and TriCo conduct business, including Hawaii, Guam, Saipan and California; volatility and disruptions in global capital and credit markets; the impact of bank failures or adverse developments at other banks on general investor sentiment regarding the stability and liquidity of banks; changes in interest rates that could significantly reduce net interest income and negatively affect asset yields and valuations and funding sources, including impacts on prepayment speeds; competitive pressures among financial institutions and nontraditional providers of financial services, including on product pricing and services; concentrations within FHI’s or TriCo’s loan portfolio (including commercial real estate loans) or other asset classes, and the parties’ ability to attract and retain customer deposits, large loans to certain borrowers, the parties’ ability to attract and retain customer deposits, access liquidity and capital, and manage deposit costs and funding sources; the success, impact, and timing of FHI’s and TriCo’s respective business strategies, including market acceptance of any new products or services and FHI’s and TriCo’s ability to successfully implement strategic, operational, technology and integration initiatives; the failure to properly use and protect customer and employee information and data; cybersecurity risks, including the occurrence of fraudulent activity or a material breach of, or disruption to, the security of FHI’s, TriCo’s or their vendors’ systems; risks related to the development, implementation, use and management of artificial intelligence and other emerging technologies; the effects of failures or interruptions of information, communications or third-party service-provider systems; the nature, extent, timing, and results of governmental actions, examinations, reviews, reforms, regulations, and interpretations; changes in laws or regulations; adverse weather conditions, natural disasters and other catastrophic events such as wildfires; the occurrence of any event, change or other circumstances that could give rise to the right of one or both of the parties to terminate the merger agreement to which FHI and TriCo are parties; the outcome of any legal proceedings that may be instituted against FHI or TriCo, including potential litigation relating to the Transaction; delays in completing the Transaction; the failure to obtain necessary regulatory approvals (and the risk that such approvals may result in the imposition of conditions that could adversely affect the combined company or the expected benefits of the Transaction); the failure to obtain stockholder or shareholder approvals, as applicable, or to satisfy any of the other conditions to the closing of the Transaction on a timely basis or at all; changes in FHI’s or TriCo’s share price before closing, including as a result of the financial performance of the other party prior to closing, or more generally due to broader stock market movements, and the performance of financial companies and peer group companies; the possibility that the anticipated benefits of the Transaction are not realized when expected or at all, including as a result of the impact of, or problems arising from, the integration of the two companies or as a result of the strength of the economy and competitive factors in the areas where FHI and TriCo do business; certain restrictions during the pendency of the proposed Transaction that may impact the parties’ ability to pursue certain business opportunities or strategic transactions; the possibility that the Transaction may be more expensive to complete than anticipated, including as a result of unexpected factors or events; diversion of management’s attention from ongoing business operations and opportunities; potential adverse reactions or changes to business or employee relationships, including those resulting from the announcement or completion of the Transaction; the ability to complete the Transaction and integration of FHI and TriCo promptly and successfully; the dilution caused by FHI’s issuance of additional shares of its capital stock in connection with the Transaction; and other factors that may affect the future results of FHI and TriCo.

The foregoing factors should not be considered an exhaustive list and should be read together with the other cautionary statements set forth in FHI's Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2025 and its latest Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q, which are on file with the Securities and Exchange Commission (the "SEC") and available on FHI's investor relations website, <https://ir.fhb.com>, under the heading "SEC Filings," and in other documents FHI files with the SEC, and in TriCo's Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2025 and its latest Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q, which are on file with the SEC and available on TriCo's website, www.tcbk.com, under the "About" tab and the "Investor Relations" link and then under the heading "SEC Filings" and in other documents TriCo files with the SEC. If one or more events related to these or other risks or uncertainties materialize, or if our underlying assumptions prove to be incorrect, actual results may differ materially from what we anticipate. Accordingly, you should not place undue reliance on any such forward-looking statements.

Any forward-looking statement speaks only as of the date on which it is made, and neither FHI nor TriCo undertakes any obligation to update any forward-looking statement, whether as a result of new information, future developments or otherwise, except as required by applicable law.

IMPORTANT ADDITIONAL INFORMATION AND WHERE TO FIND IT
